Journeys Specialty Journal

❦ 5:47 in the morning, the Maldives, a Tuesday in March

scroll, slowly

The morning you've been working toward.

Travel that feels the way it looks in the photo. For people who'd rather not Expedia it.

Preface · Toronto · Anno MMXXVI

An advisor practice for people who travel like they mean it — and would rather not spend the trip wishing they'd booked something else.

A small studio, recently established.

Chapter II · A series of arrivals

Three frames from recent bookings. What the client paid is the same.
What arrived is not.

Frame I · The first hour

Frame II · Mid-morning

Frame III · Golden hour

Anyone can book a room.
We're in the business of arranging arrivals.

Preface · Field Note No. XII

❦ Chapter III · The studio

We're a small studio. That's not a euphemism.

Travel agencies have grown into corporations. Membership clubs. Tiered access. Forms that ask you to confirm your annual household income before you can speak to anyone.

Preface is the opposite of that.

One advisor, in Toronto, with a deep network and a stack of properties she's actually stayed at. No minimums. No memberships. No gatekeeping.

A $3,000 bach weekend and a $50,000 family pilgrimage get the same care. The economics work either way — and the work is the same regardless.

Chapter IV · The practice

The trips that have to land.

Honeymoons, families, milestones, business travel, and — quietly — the resort trips we know intimately.

I. Honeymoons

The trip you've been overthinking for nine months.

Maldives over-water. Bali by region. Greek isles, by month. Tuscany — but the side they don't post.

Indian Ocean Maldives · Mauritius · Seychelles
Europe Santorini · Amalfi · Mykonos · Tuscany
Asia-Pacific Bali · Tokyo + Kyoto · Bora Bora

Plate III Maldives

II. Family

An all-inclusive that doesn't feel like one.

Real kids' clubs. Adult zones that are actually quiet. We've stayed at most of them. We know which marketing photos lie about the beach.

Caribbean Beaches Turks · Atlantis Bahamas
Mexico Hyatt Ziva Cap Cana · Andaz Mayakoba
Family-floor Excellence Punta Cana · Dreams Riviera

Plate IV Cap Cana

III. Groups & milestones

Twenty people. One trip. We can do this.

40th birthdays. Parents' anniversaries. Multi-generational family travel. The trip where someone usually loses their mind — except this time.

Bach Mykonos villas · Mexico City · Cabo · Lisbon
Milestone Israel multi-gen · Italian estates · Aman Tokyo
Reunion Round Hill Jamaica · Casa de Campo

Plate V Cabo

IV. The specialty

Twenty resorts, personally slept in.

Most agencies plan resort trips they've only read about. We know which property has a real kids' club, which adults-only is genuinely quiet at 11pm. The full ranking is in the journal.

The good Excellence Playa Mujeres · Le Blanc · Zoetry
The great Rosewood Mayakoba · Grand Velas · Beaches Turks
The verdict Six to recommend · five conditional · six to skip

Plate VI Specialty

Chapter V · A recent booking

One trip. Recently.

Last March, a couple booked their honeymoon to Six Senses Fiji. They paid $8,000 for what they thought was a Pool Villa. At check-in, the front desk handed them keys to the Premier Beachfront Pool Villa.

The room they walked into would have cost $2,400 more on Booking.com.

Daily breakfast was included. A $100 spa credit waited at the concierge desk. A bottle of champagne sat on the table, with a note: "Mr. & Mrs. K. — welcome home."

> None of it cost extra.
> None of it was asked for.

The hotel paid Fora the commission they would have paid Booking.com. Except Booking.com would have kept it. We hand it back to clients in the room.
