

a journal of arrivals

The morning
you've been working toward.

An advisor practice for people who travel like they mean it. Stories, opinions, and bookings from someone who actually sleeps where she sends you.

— CHAPTER 01

An arrival, considered.

This is for them.

Hotels publish a rate. Whether you book on Booking.com, Expedia, or through us — the rate is identical. Where it changes is what's already waiting in the room.

An upgrade. Daily breakfast, two people. A $100 hotel credit. A welcome amenity that says your name on the card. None of which you knew to ask for.

Same price, different arrival. That's the entire pitch.

Underneath, the obvious answer: we are paid by the hotel, the way Booking.com is. Except they keep the commission. We hand it back to you in the room.

— CHAPTER 02

A specialty: twenty resorts, personally slept in.

Most agencies plan resort trips they've never taken.

We've been to Excellence Playa Mujeres and Punta Cana. Le Blanc and Zoetry. Hyatt Inclusive Cap Cana, Rose Hall, Riviera Cancun, Cabo. Plus a dozen more.

We know which property has a kids' club that actually delivers, and which one keeps the same babysitter for twelve children. We know which adults-only is genuinely quiet at 11pm, and which has a DJ until 1am.

We know which $700/night room is worth $700, and which is sold to people who don't know better.

"Sandals is mid. There are three all-inclusives in the Caribbean that aren't, and none of them advertise on TV."

It is, on its surface, a small advantage. Stay where you sell.
But it is the difference between booking a brochure and booking a trip.

FIGURE 02
Excellence Playa Mujeres at golden hour. The benchmark for adults-only in Mexico. Most agencies plan trips here without having stayed.

— CHAPTER 03 · DESTINATIONS

Where we've actually been. Where we'd send you.

Not a brochure. The places we have receipts in — real properties, honest verdicts, current intel.

Maldives

Over-water perfection — but not all months are equal. We'll tell you when not to go.

— 14 PROPERTIES ON OUR LIST

Tulum & Riviera Maya

The Mexico everyone Instagrams. We know which beaches still deliver and which months to skip.

— VISITED Q1 2026

Santorini

The cliché made literal. Better in May than August, by a margin we'll explain.

— 4 PROPERTIES RECOMMENDED

Punta Cana

Understand for honeymoons. The Hyatt Inclusive Collection landed here properly.

— SPECIALTY

Cabo

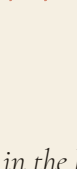

A different Mexico — Pacific, sharper, less crowded. The beach pick that actually works.

— BEST FOR: 8-15 PAX

Turks & Caicos

Possibly the best beach in the Caribbean. Beaches resort delivers if you have kids.

— YEAR-ROUND

Anyone can book a room. We're in the business of arranging arrivals.

— ISSUE 12 · THE NEWSLETTER

— CHAPTER 04 · A RECENT BOOKING

A honeymoon. Six Senses Fiji, seven nights.

M+S booked through us in March. They paid $8,000 for what they thought was a Pool Villa.

At check-in, the front desk handed them keys to the Premier Beachfront Pool Villa. The room they walked into would have cost $2,400 more on Booking.com.

Daily breakfast was included. A $100 spa credit waited at the concierge desk. A bottle of champagne sat on the table, with a note: "Mr. & Mrs. K. — welcome home."

None of it cost extra. None of it was asked for. The hotel paid For a the commission they would have paid Booking.com — except Booking.com would have kept it.

— that's the entire pitch.

HONEYMOON · M+S · MAY 2026 · SIX SENSES FIJI

ready when you are — going you're

Twenty minutes. No pitch, no pressure. If we're not the right fit, we'll tell you.

Begin the conversation

Preface.

A travel-advisor practice for people who'd rather not Expedia it. Established Toronto, 2026.

PRACTICE

Honeymoons

Family

Groups

Business

All-Inclusives

JOURNAL

Recent issues

Guides

About

REACH

Book a call

Write

Instagram